

Indice

CHAPTERS

- 5 MASSIMILIANO DEMATA, NATALIA KNOBLOCK, MARIANNA LYA ZUMMO, Introduction
- 13 MARIA IVANA LORENZETTI, Dramatising Crisis. Rhetorical Responses to the COVID-19 Pandemic by Right-Wing Populist Leaders in the USA and UK
- 47 CARLOTTA FIAMMENGHI, Anti-vaccination Conspiracy Theories and Theorists: Analysis of a Corpus of Offline and Online Argumentative Texts in the Guardian and the Daily Mail
- 69 ANNA ANSELMO, Science-related Populism and Social Actors in Martin Geddes' Early Representations of COVID-19. A Case Study
- 87 JACQUELINE AIELLO, "Don't Mask the Truth". Analyzing Anti-Mask Discourses Advanced by a 'Trusted Expert' and Activists Acting On- and Offline
- 115 VIRGINIA ZORZI, Discourses of Public Health-related Controversies. A Comparison between the Conspiracist Video Pandemic and the VIOXX Medical Scandal
- 145 STEFANIA D'AVANZO, Institutional Communication Concerning the COVID-19 Pandemic. A Critical Discourse Analysis of WHO Director-General's Speeches
- 159 MARGARET RASULO, Rumor has it. The COVID-19 Infodemic as the Repository of Conspiracy
- 191 CLAUDIA ROBERTA COMBEI, A Mixed-method Corpus Approach to the COVID-19 Vaccination Debate
- 225 EWELINA PRAŻMO, RAFAŁ AUGUSTYN, The Racist Pandemic. A Semantico-Pragmatic Study of Anti-Asian Overtones in COVID-19-related Twitter Discourse

- 245 NATAŠA RASCHI, Pour une relecture de la querelle du XVIII^e siècle sur l'inoculation. Analyse des procédés discursifs utilisés par Diderot
- 259 SABRINA BERTOLLO, Unhealthy COVID-19 Communication: A Morphosyntactic Analysis of German AfD Party's Counter-discourse
- 297 VINCE LIÉGEOIS, JOLIEN MATHYSEN, Frames Featuring in Epidemiological Crisis Communication. A Frame-Semantic Analysis of Pandemic Crisis Communication in Multilingual Belgium
- 331 GIULIA ADRIANA PENNISI, Tackling Online Disinformation. The Construction of 'Trustworthiness' and 'Best Practices' in the European Commission Discourse on COVID-19
- 361 BERNADETTE HOFER-BONFIRM, LITIANE BARBOSA MACEDO, COVID-19 and the Global Health Threat of "Vaccine Hesitancy". Analyzing anti-vax Discourses in Brazilian Portuguese and in German on Twitter